Miles in Water Plant.

Mr J. I. Vaughan, a prominent railroad contractor of Roanoke, has acquired a controlling interest in the Radford Waleri Power Company, having purchased the stock owned by the late rolonel Greene W. Miles. The deal was consummated in this city, Mr. Vaughan having come here to meet the attorneys of Mr. Miles with reference to the subject.

The concern is quite large, and is now in a flourishing condition. It operates a street railway line from Radford to Rast Hadford, and furnishes light for both towns as well as their water supplies. Mr. Vaughan is a most enterprising business man, and he and his associates will push the new company so as to dularge the scope of its work.

The price at which the Miles in crest was acquired is not given, but it is not derstood to have been a handsome figure.
